SELL SIDE

Challenge

Brokers and investment banks need to move fast to keep pace with the demanding market. Increasing regulatory pressure and the drive toward ever-smaller margins necessitates that they work even more efficiently. In order to remain competitive, they require a comprehensive risk management solution that enables them to control their clients' risk more effectively and make more intelligent decisions on how to allocate capital.

Solution

expressWay™ by Mantara gives the sell side the tools they need to view and manage client risk. Our ultra-low latency solution provides market data, risk and routing capabilities that brokers and investment banks can use for themselves and their clients.

expressWay

- ▶ expressWay Risk aggregates risk across all venues and provides the broker with a total picture from a client's activity perspective allowing the broker to optimize its commitment of trading capital to clients. It also provides robust pre-trade risk control and enables drop copies to be sent to down-stream systems.
- ▶ expressWay Connectivity is a consolidated in-house routing infrastructure for all of the broker/bank's client base. This solution delivers high-speed normalized access to all major execution venues and scales horizontally for throughput and redundancy. Routing can be offered to clients with pre-trade risk compliance checks.
- ▶ expressWay Market Data helps distribute normalized market data to clients, quickly and efficiently.

Impact

With expressWay, the sell side can leverage the benefit of high-speed order routing gateways and intelligent risk management solutions. Brokers are able to offer clients more leverage translating into more business from those well-served clients.
